

Casey Camp-Horinek

“Mother Earth’s rights are inherent. Any law that denies these fundamental rights [is] illegitimate and a violation of all the Natural Laws of Creation.”

OCTOBER 27TH
12:00 - 1:15 PM

Casey Camp-Horinek is a Native-Rights activist, environmentalist and actress, who has long been at the forefront of grassroots movements for Indigenous and environmental liberation.

Ms. Camp-Horinek has spoken at the UN on environmental and Native rights and has recently played the grandmother in the FX and Hulu exclusive Reservation Dogs. We are honored to host her for a discussion of our duty, as future lawyers, to Mother Earth, her Indigenous children, and all those who sacrifice to save her.

Register here: <https://forms.gle/UU9LTiqJFjkcWdZR9>

Casey Camp-Horinek will join us via Zoom. A live, in-person, viewing will be held at the law school in Room 146. Food will be provided.

Generously sponsored by the University of Arizona Diversity Committee